

"OUR NEXT WAR WITH GERMANY."

A Remark Attributed to Dewey

REPORT IS DISCREDITED WITH EMPHASIS.

One of the Officers at the State Department Says "The Admiral is Not Going to Begin to Act Foolish; the Interview Must Be a Fake"—Secretary Long, Also, Does Not Believe the Remark Attributed, Was Made.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special]—Secretary Long does not believe that Admiral Dewey made the remarks attributed to him at Trieste, that "our next war would be with Germany," or that he has said anything that could be so construed.

The war department will certainly take no notice of the report, at any rate.

At the state department the interview was discredited with emphasis; one of the officials put it, "Dewey is not going to begin to act foolishly, and the interview must be a fake."

Trieste, July 29.—The correspondent of the New York Herald had a conversation with Admiral Dewey on board the Olympia Thursday.

In reply to remarks that Germany had intended to interfere at Manila the admiral said:

"Yes, Prince Henry of Prussia is a man of the type of his brother, the German emperor."

"And Admiral von Diederichs?" the admiral was asked.

"He was relieved from his Manila post in accordance with an arrangement of long standing, and because his time was up—not as a concession, made in friendliness to the American government. Germany's policy is to prevent other powers from obtaining what she cannot acquire herself."

After we had spoken of Samoa as evidence of her policy, the admiral said:

"We need a large and thoroughly equipped navy that can cope with any other power. Great Britain is our natural ally, and differences such as those about the Venezuelan border and the fisheries do not interfere with a friendly understanding existing between the two nations."

"Our next war will be with Germany."

Admiral Dewey remained on board the Olympia Friday and received Mr. Horsfeld, the United States consul, and a number of other callers.

Washington, July 29.—Navy department officials, when their attention was called to the alleged interview given by Admiral Dewey to a New York Herald correspondent, said it was extremely improbable that any such conversation had taken place. Prominent officials of the state department also discredit the report.

Dewey Will Go to Naples.

Trieste, July 29.—The Olympia will leave on Tuesday, Aug. 1, for Naples. On the way to New York the cruiser will probably stop at Leghorn, Gibraltar and Mafra.

ASSAULT AND HANG A CHILD.

Terrible Discovery of Alonso Newton, a Texas Farmer.

Dallas, Texas, July 29.—Fannin county, twenty-five miles north of Dallas, is in a state of frenzied indignation over the discovery of a horrible crime that was committed Thursday.

An 11-year-old white girl, the daughter of Alonso Newton, a farmer, was found hanging lifeless from a tree near the family home by her father when he returned from chopping wood in the timber a mile away. The child, whose mother has been dead for two years, was left alone in the morning when her father went to work.

A woman of questionable character, who is believed to have desired revenge on the child's father, and a young white farmer, a reckless character, who has been in jail for misdemeanors, are under suspicion.

The people of the county are terribly aroused and a lynching, perhaps two of them, may be the outcome. Sheriff Ribbling said: "I dare not make an arrest in the present inflamed condition of the public mind. All I can do is to watch and prevent escapes."

Neither Sheriff Ribbling nor City Marshal Jackson would give the names of suspected persons.

The little girl was hanged by a rope procured from her home, and her hands and feet were tied with strong cords.

TAYLOR TO VISIT THIS CITY

To Decide Location For New Federal Building.

Those who have sites to sell for the proposed new postoffice building will not be kept in suspense much longer, word having been received that James Knox Taylor, the supervising architect of the treasury, had left Washington at $30,000.

Wednesday night for the west. The information states that in addition to deciding on a location for the new building in this city, he will examine sites for public buildings at Pittsburg, Chicago, St. Paul, Aberdeen, S. D., Ferguson Falls and St. Cloud, Minn., and Eau Claire, Wis. While the order in which he will make the above cities was not stated it is supposed that he will visit Pittsburg and Chicago and come direct here from the latter city. In that event he should reach the Bower City at an early date.

MILWAUKEE FREIGHT'S TIME

Fastest Run In the World Made On This Road.

It is not generally known that the Milwaukee road runs several of its freight trains on passenger train time and probably no other railroad in the world makes as fast time with freights as this road. Train 68, a stock freight makes the run from La Crosse to Portage, 105 miles, in three hours and 11 minutes, including stops. No. 4, passenger, requires 9 minutes more making the run in three hours and twenty minutes, and the night mail requires two hours and fifty minutes or only 19 minutes less than the freight. This is probably the fastest freight run in the world and it is generally made on time.

FATALITIES DURING THE WAR.

Number of Deaths Up to June 2 Is Placed at 736.

Seattle, Wash., July 29.—An evening paper prints what purports to be a full list of fatalities in the American army in the Philippines up to June 2. The list was furnished by Fred F. Eitel, a representative of the Manila Freedom, who claims to have obtained it from the records of the surgeon general's office at Manila.

The total number of fatalities is 736—twenty-three officers, 699 privates and fourteen civilians, attached to the army. A remarkable feature of the record is found in the statement that the number of officers killed in battle is out of proportion to the number of privates killed. On the other hand, fewer officers died from disease proportionately than privates. Out of the twenty-three officers dead sixteen were killed in action, two were drowned and five died of disease as follows: Typhoid one; meningitis, two; rheumatism of the heart, one; paralysis, one. Of the 699 privates, 294 died of wounds received in action, nine were killed accidentally, twenty-three were drowned and seven committed suicide. One hundred and six died of typhoid fever, eighty-nine of smallpox, forty-seven of dysentery, twenty-eight of pneumonia, nineteen of malarial fever and fourteen of meningitis. The remaining seventeen died from various diseases. Of the fourteen deaths among civilians seven were from smallpox and three from gunshot wounds received in action.

Placed Paris Green in Family Coffe Pot—Four Men Suspected of Black River Falls Robbery Locked Up—West Superior Man Shoots Father in Law—State News.

Manawa, Wis., July 29—Pauline Farg, a 14-year-old girl, has been committed to the Industrial School for Girls at Milwaukee for an attempt at wholesale poisoning of the family of James Keating, a farmer for whom she was working. She placed a large dose of paris green in the family coffee pot, but no member drank sufficient of the mixture to cause serious results. The girl confessed to having had a slight disagreement with Mrs. Keating and this is the only reason known for the act. Her relatives maintain she was not in her right mind.

Monona Lake Assembly.

Madison, Wis., July 29.—John Temple Graves lectured on "The Negro" at Monona Lake assembly yesterday. Mr. Graves is a Southerner and has spent the greater part of his life in circles where there is a large colored population.

He expressed the belief that the solution of the negro problem can only be brought about by the slow process of education. He thinks that there is a future for the race, and that that future will be closely entwined with the future of the nation. Last evening the Rev. F. A. Strong gave an illustrated lecture on "Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines." The Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage arrived yesterday, but left immediately for Belleville, where he installed the Rev. Alf Eels as pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Today he lectures at the assembly on "Bonnie Scotland and the Scots."

Columbian Catholic School.

Madison, Wis., July 29.—At Columbian Catholic summer school yesterday the Rev. William Poland, of St. Louis Jesuit university, closed his series of lectures on "Principles of Society." He discussed socialism and said that any new order of things that robe men of their individualism would be a change for the worse. At 11 o'clock J. W. Willis, of St. Paul, Minn., gave his second address on "War Epochs of American History." He discussed the revolution and the war of 1812. Last night the Very Rev. Joseph Selinger, of St. Francis seminary, Milwaukee, lectured. Tomorrow is Foresters' day. A special train will bring the Catholic Order of Foresters from Milwaukee early in the morning. Bishop Messmer will give an address of welcome at 10 a. m. and J. T. Callen, state chief ranger, will give a response.

Four Suspects Arrested.

Eau Claire, Wis., July 29.—Special Agent Bressand of the Omaha railway, assisted by the Eau Claire sheriff and chief of police, captured several suspects yesterday. One of the four now locked up is believed one of the men who held up a saloon and the passenger depot at Black River Falls night before last.

The prisoners were sent to that place last night. Bressand and the chief of police made a trip with a locomotive and box car from Altoona to Merrillan and back yesterday morning searching for the robbers. Several other suspects were locked up at Merrillan.

George Curtis Taken Ill.

Merrill, Wis., July 29.—George W. Curtis, of the state tax commission, was taken with an attack of heart trouble yesterday morning at Brown Lake near Hazelhurst, where he is camping with his family. Dr. Monroe, of Merrill, went up in response to a telegram. He was resting easy last night, and no fears are apprehended. He will be at home as soon as his condition permits.

This is his second attack within a short time. He went to the lake to recuperate.

Preliminary Hearing Held.

Waupaca, Wis., July 29.—The preliminary hearing of Bob McArthur and Andrew Grady, who were arrested Wednesday on the charge of having tried to rob a Wisconsin Central train near here four years ago, has begun.

Express Messenger.

Robinson, who was forced to remain in the car while the safe was dynamited, identified McArthur as the man who did the dynamiting. This announcement caused a sensation.

Both men pleaded not guilty. Judge Chamberlain held them for examination on Aug. 3.

Drake, National home Milwaukee, $6 to $8. Original widows, etc.—Mary Jauber, Green Bay, $8.

Shoots Father-in-Law.

West Superior, Wis., July 29.—John Sullivan yesterday morning placed a revolver against the head of his aged father-in-law, William Moore, and shot him. The ball passed through the lower jaw and tongue, and the wound is probably fatal. Sullivan had trouble with his wife, and her father had refused to see to Sullivan. The victim is an old and respected citizen. Sullivan is in jail.

Left Home Three Weeks Ago.

Green Bay, July 29.—Nicholas Altmaier, a deputy sheriff and a well known resident of De Pere, is missing. Mrs. Straup of the same place disappeared from home about the same time, and neither have been heard from for over three weeks. Frank Scott of Ashland, says that he saw Mr. Altmaier and a strange woman at an Ashland hotel a few days ago.

Threaten a Boycott.

Racine, Wis., July 29.—The fight among the non-union barbers is becoming interesting. The union barbers are watching and keeping tab of all union men who shave at non-union shops and also of merchants who shave there and a boycott is threatened. Now there is talk of non-union shops organizing and throwing out all union made cigars. There are nine shops that have union cards and twenty-one that have not.

TO ATTACK SANTIAGO

Insurgents Cut Wires in Vicinity of Moca and Santiago de los Caballeros.

Cape Hayton, July 29.—[Special]—Advices just received from the Dominican frontier say the insurgents have cut all the telegraph wires in the neighborhood of Moca and Santiago de los Caballeros. The insurgents in the western part of the seventeenth century. She was herself a housemaid, and saved her earnings, which at the time of her death amounted to a considerable sum and were invested in consols. It was intrusted to the vestry of that parish as a permanent fund, and she provided in her will that all of the housemaids in the parish who had served five years or more in the same household and had never in their lives been employed in inns, alehouses or other drinking places, and were of good character and repute, should meet on Easter Monday and cast lots for the money. The girl throwing the highest number receives two-thirds of the whole, the second highest receives the other third, and if there should be a tie the money is divided.

House Servants.

They have a curious custom at Gullford, England. On Easter Monday all of the maid servants in St. Paul's parish meet at the vestry room and throw dice for a fund of £12.12s, which is the interest upon a legacy left by a woman as long ago as the earlier part of the seventeenth century. She was herself a housemaid, and saved her earnings, which at the time of her death amounted to a considerable sum and were invested in consols. It was intrusted to the vestry of that parish as a permanent fund, and she provided in her will that all of the housemaids in the parish who had served five years or more in the same household and had never in their lives been employed in inns, alehouses or other drinking places, and were of good character and repute, should meet on Easter Monday and cast lots for the money. Bathing in Russia.

A family of father, mother and son have just returned from a sojourn of several months in Southern Russia, and are now staying at the Grand hotel. In the old "white town" of Baku there is a new "black town" now, where petroleum is refined—they registered at the Hotel de l'Europe, and papa ordered a bath. After his ablutions he proposed a bath for mamma and another for the boy, aged 10. The proprietor brusquely informed him that his wife, his son and himself were expected to use the same water. In the excitement of the race he did not see the bicycles approaching until they were almost upon them. Then he slowed up and the other farmer went past like the wind, knocking down the ex mayor. It is thought the other fellow came from Janesville.

Ten Thousand Men Idle.

Chicago, July 29.—Ten thousand men were thrown out of employment and work was stopped on 200 buildings in the course of erection in Chicago during the second day of the strike of the union brickmakers of Cook county. The bricklayers and hod-carriers were forced to quit work for want of material, and following them the carpenters were forced to lay down their tools.

An effort will be made for an amicable adjustment of the controversy at a meeting today. All the interests directly involved will be represented.

Will Avoid Ratio Question.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.—The committee which is preparing an address to the democrats of the state will not be ready to make its report until next Wednesday. T. E. Ryan, one of the members of the committee, speaking of the address, said: "It is not our intention to declare for an arbitrary ratio, although the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform as a whole is provided for. The great issues, trusts and anti-imperialism, are to be emphasized as of much importance. The single gold standard is regarded as a promoter of trusts and will be attacked."

Agitation Is Growing.

Y.M.C.A. DEFEATED BY WATERTOWN'S UMPIRE
YESTERDAY'S GAME DISCOUR-AGING TO LOCAL NINE.

The Battle Resulted in a Score of 11 to 6.—Manager Cunningham Secures a Game With the Milwaukee League Team For August 15—Edgerton Shut Out By Unions.

The Y. M. C. A. team, of this city, went to Watertown yesterday for the purpose of pitting their forces against the Sacred Heart college team of that place. The result of the game did not bring forth a hilarious shout of "veni, vidi, vici." They went and the game had not progressed very far before they became fully aware of the fact that it would be impossible for them to conquer.

Little did the boys dream that they would be obliged to play the combined force of team and umpire, which is a union of strength that offered but one alternative, defeat. What is even worse, the game was poorly attended, the receipts amounting to something like $12, necessitating the members of the local club going down deep into their own pockets.

It is said that in the first two innings the umpire's decisions were so partial that the visitors were deprived of several runs that rightly belonged to them. His decisions on balls and strikes were also flavored of the same rankness. In short the home club was bounced out of the game which went to the "entertainers" in a score of 11 to 6.

Fisher and McMasters was the Janesville battery. Only six hits were made off from him, while the Y. M. C. A. made eleven off from Kleinow. Blakely made two hits, one a two bagger; Adkins, 2; Oleson, 2; McMasters 2 and Fisher, Brown and Sullivan, one each. Sullivan and Brown made two errors each and Oleson and Carle one each. Sullivan and Allen each struck out. Two men on each side were hit by the pitcher.

The management of the local team was to take McGinley to umpire, and agreed to pay his expenses, but they had all the assurances in the world that his services would not be needed as an umpire would be on hand who would do the square (?) thing. Thus the prophecy of the Oshkosh boys came true.

A return game will be played here next Friday and it is quite safe to predict that the result will be different than that of yesterday. Following is a brief summary of the game:

The teams lined up as follows:

JANESVILLE. Position. WATERTOWN.
Fisher.....p.....Kleinow
McMasters.....c.....Krebs
Sullivan.....s.....Routz
Oleson.....1 b.....Kronitz
Allen.....2 b.....Schuetzke
Brown.....3 b.....Walters
Blakely.....1 t.....Schultz
Carle.....c.....Marquart
Adkins.....r f.....Berndt

Score by innings:
Janesville.....0 0 1 0 0 2 0 3 0 6
Watertown.....3 0 1 3 0 0 1 3 0 11
Strike out—By Fisher, 6; off Kleinow, 2. Base hits—Off Fisher, 6; off Kleinow, 11. Errors—Janesville, 6; Watertown, 3; Two base hits—Watertown, 3; Janesville, 1. Homerun—Schuetzke. Base on balls, off Fisher, 4; off Kleinow, 2.

Edgerton Defeated By Unions.

The Chicago Unions and Edgerton base ball team met at "Tobaccoville" yesterday afternoon and the last mentioned men were shut out by a score of 10 to 0. Busber twirled the sphere for the Edgerton team. At the end of the sixth inning the score was 10 to 0 and for the next three innings the members of the Unions played horse with and had a little fun at the expense of Edgerton. This was done more for the purpose of ending the game in order that the visitors might depart on an early train. That their undertaking was accomplished can be believed from the fact that they were in Janesville at 5 o'clock enroute to Chicago.

Milwaukee League Team Coming
A great game of base ball has been scheduled to be played in this city Tuesday, August 15, at Athletic park. Arrangements have just been completed by Manager Cunningham, of the Y. M. C. A. team, with Manager Connie Mack, of the Milwaukee League team. The game necessitates a large guarantee for the Brewers and in order for the local association to meet expenses, it will require a large attendance. This will no doubt be the game of the season, the contract for which was closed yesterday.

Birth of a Child With One Arm and One Leg Missing.

Beloit Daily News:
Last Tuesday a son was born to Rev. and Mrs. Jones which is exciting great interest among the physicians. It is a case very rarely seen. The baby was born with one arm and leg amputated as neatly as if done by a surgeon. Rev. Jones is the pastor of the African M. E. church.

These limbs were fully developed before birth but by some pressure, the exact nature of which is not known, the right arm was cut off half way between the hand and elbow and the left leg half way from the foot to the knee. The skin had grown over the stump of the leg and the wound had healed and the wound in the arm was healing rapidly. Dr. Reed, attending physician, says he has met with but one similar case in Beloit. That was a fourteen-year-old boy whom he saw last winter. He had both arms and one leg amputated before birth.

LEAF-GREEN CLOTH DRESS FROM HARPER'S BAZAAR

The tendency of all autumn gowns is to toward plain fabrics. We shall present. The long rolling collar reaches quite to the waist line, and is ornamented in great numbers and more sober tones in cloth, although these will be relieved of three. The sleeves are sheath fitting about the upper and lower arm, but have a shirred effect at the elbow in both back and front seams. The cuffs are contrasting cloths of various weaves. An advance design for early autumn from Harper's Bazaar is chosen herewith. The skirt is a shallow circular that spreads wide at the three darts so that, when stitched, a tiny pleat is formed at the foot of each dart that yields a pretty fullness to the lower skirt. Flat cream satin bands are smoothly fitted over the long hip darts, and these are stitched in place with green silk, and finished at the lower point by large silk tackings. The skirt has a centre back seam and a ten-inch train, finished with seven-stitched, inch wide tucks. To make this costume of plain cloth 54 inches wide, 7 yards of material will be required, together with $\frac{1}{2}$ yard of white opera cloth. The Eton jacket has a seamed

MANILA NURSE VISITS BELoit

Mrs. Jennie Elseffer the Guest of Brethren At Line City.

Beloit Daily Free Press: Mrs. Jennie Elseffer, who, as a Red Cross nurse at Manila, attended the sick and wounded American soldiers and comforted the dying "boys in blue," who have given up their lives in that far-away country, is in Beloit visiting her brothers, William and George Ahara.

Mrs. Elseffer lives in Salt Lake City, Utah, and enlisted in the California Red Cross society at San Francisco, July 11, 1893. She was immediately sent to Manila in company with ten other nurses, and were stationed in the Division hospital in the city of Manila. They were the first American nurses in the Philippines, going some time before the government nurses were dispatched.

Of the soldiers in the Philippines, Mrs. Elseffer says she does not think they received enough credit for their work.

She spoke in the highest terms of the officers and men and their behavior both on and off the field of battle. They fight against great odds and in many cases exhibit extraordinary bravery. Mrs. Elseffer said she was sorry to be compelled to return home as she liked the country and her work very much and would like to return, but thought the war would be over before she recovered from the effects of the diphtheria contracted in Manila which was the cause of her returning home. She reached San Francisco on the return voyage in December and has not yet fully recovered her health. She will make a short visit in Beloit, and if the war is still in progress when she recovers will again join the Red Cross Society and seek service in the Philippines.

GREAT BRITAIN TO ACT ALONE.
Will Settle Alaskan Boundary Question with the United States.

Ottawa, Ont., July 29.—There are signs of a hasty adjournment of the dominion parliament. Within a week the session is expected to end. This is taken to mean that if a settlement of the Alaskan boundary dispute disastrous to Canada is to be forced on the dominion senate by Great Britain the conservative minority in the house of commons will be out of the way.

It is asserted the irritation now being manifested in Canada over the Alaskan boundary question is due to the fact that Great Britain has taken the settlement of the controversy out of the hands of the dominion authorities and will hereafter deal directly with the United States in the matter. Information to this effect, it is asserted, was sent to Ottawa before the decision was made known in Washington and the bellicose declarations of Premier Laurier and Sir Charles Tupper are attributed to this action.

Negroes Publish Complaints.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 29.—The committee appointed by the Indiana Afro-American convention to prepare an address to the public has issued a statement containing a bitter denunciation of lynching methods and charging that a question of morals is too often used as a cloak to excuse these violations of law; it complains of the violation of the United States election laws by statutory enactments in the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana, "whereby three-fourths of the negro voters of those states are disfranchised under the guise of an educational qualification," and protests against the action of trades unions in refusing to admit colored men.

THE TALK OF THE CITY

It's of Interest to Our Readers, Because It Refers to Janesville People.

It's astonishing how news will spread. From every ward and street we hear of our people talking about the workings of the Little Conqueror. Merit and honorable methods receive their just praise. So many cases are cropping up that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but we have taken a few in hand and have given them publicly for the benefit of our reader. Our representative obtained the following statement of facts in a personal interview. They are true in every particular and no stronger evidence can be obtained than home endorsement.

Mr. L. Lawrence, of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says;

"Seven years ago I injured my back by falling through a bridge near Afton, into the Rock river. I was on a traction engine, its weight broke through, and the whole thing went into the stream. Since that time my back has ached by spells, sometimes very severely. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and if I brought a strain on my back lifting, the result was a bad backache and sharp twinges of pain in my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's drug store and after I used them I was free from backache. I am in better health than at any time since falling through the bridge. It is just such complaints as I suffered from that I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

PROPERTY OWNERS UP IN ARMS

Object to Brick Pavement On West Milwaukee Street.

A mass meeting of the property owners on West Milwaukee street was held last evening at the office of Silas Hayner for the purpose of discussing the proposed paving of West Milwaukee street with brick from the west end of Milwaukee street bridge to the east side of High street. It was the sense of the meeting that it was desirable to put in a macadam pavement in place of brick, which it is claimed will prove more enduring, and can be built for one-fourth the cost. They also desire that the city pay for one-half of the cost of putting down the macadam pavement. Another point brought forth is that it is unjust to ask these property owners to stand all the expense in view of the fact that Main street was paved at the expense of the city.

W. H. H. Macloon was elected chairman and George G. Sutherland secretary. Remarks were read by W. H. H. Macloon, William B. Talmor, Pliny Norcross and A. P. Lovejoy, stating the object for which the meeting was called.

On motion of Pliny Norcross, George G. Sutherland was requested to investigate the legal rights of the property owners and report at a meeting to be held at the same place next Monday evening.

On motion of Pliny Norcross it was voted to be the sense of the meeting that the common council be requested to re-consider their action and to fix the street with macadam.

MR. AND MRS. HEDDLES HOME

Had a Very Pleasant Eastern Trip—Found Business Booming.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart B. Heddles are home after a very pleasant four-weeks' trip through the east. Mr. Heddles says that business was booming in all the cities that he visited, and all the men who wanted work were employed, at good wages. Business men, as a rule, were in sympathy with the administration's Philippine policy.

"It is my opinion," said Mr. Heddles this morning, "that the strikes in the eastern cities are largely political. I think that agitators have influenced the men, for political purposes. That is the way it appears to me."

Want to Re-Enlist.

Washington, July 29.—The lie is given to the published statements that the Oregon volunteers, who recently returned from Manila, were disgusted with their treatment in the Philippines and would not return under any circumstances, in a telegram to the adjutant general of the army from Lieut.-Col. Plummer, who is engaged in organizing the regiment at Vancouver barracks, Washington. Col. Plummer says that a number of the Oregon men desire to re-enlist for service in the Philippines and have expressed the intention to do so if the war department will permit them to see their families before returning to the army.

Excited Over the Lynching.

Naples, July 29.—The Neapolitan press has gone hysterical over the lynching of Italian subjects at Tallulah, La. All the papers call loudly on the government to press its claim against the United States, and some of them go so far as to charge the American government with encouraging the lynching of foreigners, trusting to the want of jurisdiction on the part of the federal authorities as a means of escape from responsibility.

Rain by Storm in Akron, Iowa.

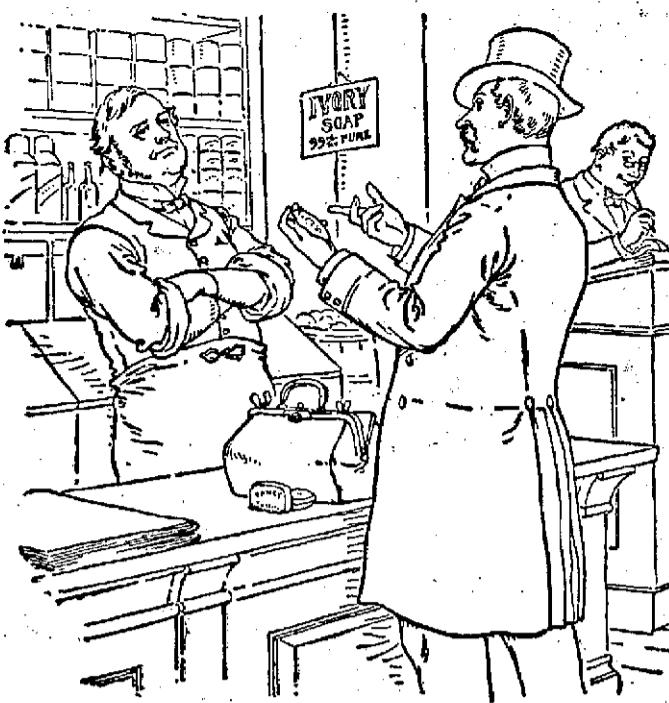

Sioux City, Iowa, July 29.—Five inches of rain fell in ten minutes during a cloudburst at Akron, Iowa, twenty miles from here, last night. This is one-sixth of the annual rainfall of the region. The wagon bridge across the Sioux river was destroyed and damage was done to growing crops. At Clear Lake, Deuel county, S. D., a hail and wind storm destroyed standing grain, and 25,000 bushels of wheat are at total loss.

Mormon Captives Get Away.

Jackson, Ga., July 29.—The three Mormon elders who were taken away from the home of William Cunnard at Newton Factory, in Jasper county, Wednesday night escaped from the mob while crossing a creek in that county and are now safe near Jackson. They are suffering from many bruises and injuries sustained in a fight with their captors.

Censorship in Turkey.

Fatal Only to Her Brother.

Carmi, Ill., July 29.—Young and wayward Mrs. Ivy Crabtree will have the taking of only one life to answer for. Her father and stepmother and their aged friend, George Carter, who took part of the poison she placed in their food, are now out of danger and are slowly but steadily returning to health. The only motive Mrs. Crabtree can give for her crime is that she wished to free to do as she pleased without hindrance. She seems utterly depraved.

Will Sell the Lands Oct. 15.

Washington, July 29.—The interior department has decided upon Oct. 15 next as the date for the sale of the lands in the north half of section 15 in the Cass Lake reserve. This sale was determined upon as the final solution of the controversy over the intruders upon the Indian lands of Cass Lake.

Rumored Loss of Life Denied.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—The story of a collision on the river Volga between a cargo steamer and a passenger steamer, which was said to have resulted in the drowning of 155 persons, was an exaggerated version of a collision that occurred July 15, when a few persons were drowned.

Growing Interest in Roads.

New York, July 29.—Gen. Roy Stone, director of road inquiry of the department of agriculture, says more activity is being displayed in road improvement than has been shown for years. He says his office is overrun with applications for advice on road legislation and assistance in road construction.

INGERSOLL ON ALCOHOL

Robert G. Ingersoll once made one of the greatest temperance orations ever heard, and in none of his public addresses did he show more plainly his wonderful gifts. His speech was made in court, and Ingersoll's client was a liquor manufacturer. Although the oration has been published and republished, it is such a typical sample of Ingersoll's burning eloquence, that we append it:

"I am aware that there is a prejudice against any man engaged in the manufacture of alcohol. I believe that from the time it issues from the coiled and poisonous worm in the distillery until it empties into the hell of death, dishonor, and crime, it demoralizes everybody that touches it, from the source to where it ends. I do not believe anybody can contemplate the subject without becoming prejudiced against that liquor crime.

"All we have to do, gentlemen, is to think of the wrecks on either bank of the stream of death; of the suicides, of the insanity; of the poverty, of the ignorance, of the destitution; of the little children tugging at the faded and weary waists of weeping and despairing wives, asking for bread; of the talented men of genius it has wrecked, the men struggling with imaginary serpents, produced by this devilish thing; and when you think of the jails, the almshouses, of the asylums, of the prisons, of the scaffolds, upon either bank, I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against this stuff called alcohol.

Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, manhood in its strength, and age in its weakness. It breaks the father's heart, bereaves the doting mother, extinguishes natural affections, erases conjugal loves, blots out filial attachments, blights parental hope, and brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave. It produces weakness, not health; death, not life. It makes wives widows; children orphans; fathers friends, and all of them paupers and beggars. It feeds rheumatism; nurses gout, welcomes epidemics, invites cholera, imports pestilence, and embraces consumption. It covers the land with idleness, misery, and crime. It fills your jails, supplies your almshouses, and demands your asylums. It engenders controversies, fosters quarrels, and cherishes riots. It crowds your penitentiaries and furnishes victims to your scaffold. It is the life blood of the gambler, the element of the burglar, the prop of the highwayman, and the support of the midnight incendiary. It countenances the liar, respects the thief, esteems the blasphemers. It violates obligations, reverences fraud, and honors infamy. It defames benevolence, hates love, scorns virtue, and slanders innocence. It incites the father to butcher his helpless offspring, helps the husband to massacre his wife, and the child to grind the paricidal ax. It burns up men, consumes life, curses God, and despises heaven. It subverts witnesses, nurses perjury, defiles the jury box, and stains the judicial ermine. It degrades the citizen, debases the legislator, dishonors statesmen, and disarms the patriot. It brings shame, not honor; terror, not safety; despair, not hope; misery, not happiness; and with the malevolence of a fiend, it calmly surveys its frightful desolation, and, unsatisfied with its havoc, it poisons felicity, kills peace, ruins morals, blights confidence, slays reputation, and wipes out national honors, then curses the world and laughs at its ruin.

"It does all that and more—it murders the soul. It is the son of villainies, the father of all crimes, the mother of abominations, the devil's best friend, and God's worst enemy."

CASH IS PLENTY

There has been an increase of $1.76 per capita in the circulation of the country in the past twelve months. It now amounts to $25.45. Business is gaining at a rapid rate, but the growth in the currency keeps pace with it, says The St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Moreover the money which is in circulation is all so safely anchored to the gold standard that the people prefer all other sorts of it to the actual gold coin. This is a widely different sort of a condition from that which prevailed in 1896, when Bryan was making his assault on the monetary stability of the country. The republican victory in that year is responsible for the business activity and the expanding currency. So long as the republicans remain in power the financial and general business conditions will remain satisfactory. Happily, the indications are that they will control the government for many years to come.

The secretary of the Kansas State Agricultural society has issued a report on the sheep and dog raising industries in that commonwealth. He contrasts the facts that on the 50,000,000 acres of land in the state there is but one sheep to every 250 acres, while the number of dogs in the state is 176,000. Two years ago the sheep outnumbered the dogs by 30 per cent, while last year this percentage was reduced to 17. In one county there were 900 dogs to each sheep, and in twelve selected counties there were 209 dogs to each sheep.

Died at the Throttle.
Milwaukee Correspondence Chicago Times-Herald: Engineer John T. Gregg of the Milwaukee and St. Paul road died suddenly in his cab this morning about two miles east of Fox lake. His death was not discovered until the fireman had spoken to him once or twice and received no response. The engineer was at the time sitting on his seat, with his hand on the throttle. When the fireman discovered the condition of the engineer he stopped the train and called the conductor, and the remains were taken to the caskets and brought to Beaver Dam. Gregg is supposed to have come from that disease. Mr. Gregg had been in the employ of the road for twenty years and lived with his family in this city.

EARTHLY CARES OF DR. O. G. BENNETTEND

POPULAR DENTIST PASSES AWAY LAST NIGHT.

Death Was the Result of Pneumonia—Taken Sick Last Monday Morning While at Office—A Practitioner in Janesville For Fourteen Years—Relatives Present.

A shadow of gloom was cast over the city last night when the announcement was made that Dr. Orrin G. Bennett had passed away. His earthly cares ceased at ten minutes past 11 o'clock, when he breathed his last. Thus death removes from among us one of our most influential, well known and popular professional business men.

Dr. Bennett had only been ill a few days. Last Monday he was at his office attending to his duties. He was troubled with a cough but felt no apprehension. About noon, however, he began to feel worse and was obliged to give up and take to his bed, pneumonia having developed. Dr. Bennett's brother, Dr. Lewis F. Bennett, of Beloit, was summoned to his bedside, and assisted by Dr. James Gibson, of this city, did everything possible to alleviate the sufferings and stay the final summons. Dr. Bennett was conscious during most of his illness, in fact until an hour previous to his death. He was surrounded by his aged parents, family and all but one of his brothers.

The biographical album of Rock county gives the following account of Dr. Bennett's life.

"Dr. Orrin G. Bennett was a native of Rock county, and was born in the town of Lima, May 27th, 1863. He was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett, of the town of Lima.

His younger days were passed upon his father's farm and when he had arrived at about the age of twenty he entered Milton college but did not graduate from that institution. He came to Janesville and entered the dental parlors of the late Dr. Thor. Judd, where he studied dentistry until he entered the Chicago Dental college, from which institution he graduated with honor. He then returned to Janesville and commenced the practice of his profession which he has continued with success for the past fourteen years.

"By his honorable dealing and strict attention to business he built up a large practice, and was regarded by all who knew him as a progressive and substantial citizen."

"In June, 1888, he was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Hanson, daughter of the late Magnus Hanson, of this city. They built a handsome residence on Milton avenue and Dr. Bennett's home life was exceedingly pleasant. Three children came to add to their joys all of whom with the bereaved wife and mother, survive him. They are Louis May, aged nine; Marjorie, aged seven; and Willard, aged four. He also leaves his aged parents and three brothers, Dr. Lewis F. Bennett, of Beloit, Chester C. Bennett of the Bennett Shoe company, of this city; and James B. Bennett, who resides on the homestead with his parents. Another brother died many years ago.

"Dr. Bennett was a member of the Independent Order Odd Fellows and lived a consistent, Christian life. He was one of the leading members of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, and took an active interest in all religious work. He has held official positions in the church and was a member of the choir."

The departed one had recently made arrangements for one of the offices in the Hayes block which he intended to occupy.

Dr. Bennett possessed many noble traits and his death coming in the prime of life and after an illness of such short duration makes the sad affair all the more deplorable to the sorrowing friends who join in extending their sympathy to the grief stricken family.

Funeral services will be held at the house at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and at 4 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. The interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

THEY DEMAND HIGH SCHOOL TRAINING

STATE DENTAL EXAMINERS REMAIN FIRM.

Other States Heartily Approve the Action Taken in Wisconsin—Janesville Tooth Pullers Interested in the Outcome—Chicago College Offers Opposition to the Ruling.

Janesville dentists are interested in the action of the state board of dental examiners in demanding of all dental colleges that the graduates they send to the state for certificates admitting them to practice must have been educated in the high school for two years at least or its equivalent has aroused some bitter feeling.

Dr. Arophy of the Chicago Dental college has been one of the bitterest opponents of the rule laid down by the state board of examiners. He went before the meeting of the State Dental society which was held last week in Madison and argued that the state officials were taking a wrong course to compel graduates from the colleges to show that they had been educated in the high school for at least two years. He claimed that it would work harm on the colleges and that if it is necessary for a man to know Latin, Greek and a smattering of other classical knowledge in order to be a professional dentist.

Dr. Carson of Brodhead, who is a member of the state board, says he and his colleagues are still convinced that dental graduates, who expect to earn a living in this state must show that they are sufficiently educated to hold a certificate.

Some time ago, said Dr. Carson, one of the Chicago Dental college graduates requested the board to grant him a certificate on the diploma he had received from the college. He was refused, on the grounds that his alma mater declined to be amenable to the regulations prescribed by the state dental examiners. He had a writ of mandamus issued by the court to compel the board to give him the certificate.

The case came before Judge Sutherland, who denied a motion to quash the proceedings, and now the case will have to come before the court again on its merits.

Dr. Carson says the state examiners intend to enforce the educational qualifications against all college graduates, and if they are not up to the standard, they will not be permitted to practice in the state. Of the forty or more dental colleges in the country, thirty-three of them have signified their intentions of abiding by the rules laid down by the responsible officers in this state; but the Chicago Dental college persistently refuses to do so.

At the meeting held in Madison, Dr. Carson of Rockford, Ill., read a paper on the relations of the state board of examiners to the colleges. He is an ex-member of the Illinois examining board, and his position is precisely that which obtains in the Wisconsin board. Dr. Carson said he was much pleased that the Illinois dentist approved of Wisconsin's action; it was practically gratifying because the utterance came from a man who is native of a state where all the kicking comes from. He also says that the examiners are not impelled by prejudice against any college. The only thought is to elevate and make the profession better.

ONE TREE ISLAND.

By JOHN BLOUNDELL-BURTON.

Copyright, 1899, by John Bloundelle-Burton.

CHAPTER II.

By the time that he had reached this part of his narrative we were all—as you may understand—much roused to curiosity. The marines and the minute-man had even let their drink get cold in the bowl while they listened to the story he was telling in rude language, but certainly most graphically. The privateer's men were regarding him with a look of admiration as though proud of one who was of their own class of sailors, and, as for me, I was staring at him more open-mouthed than ever, and the work in the kitchen being now done for the night, my dear and honored mother had opened the little window through which the dishes were handed from that place to those partaking of food in the parlor, and was herself listening with all ears to the seafarer's story, and behind her could be seen the red head of Belinda—our kitchen wench—who was gaping over my mother's shoulder with wide staring eyes.

Again he took a great draft of his rum, which by this time was as cold as the punch in the bowl, and again he lit his pipe and smoked a few whiffs, going so silently, and as though thinking deeply, and then, when he saw that we were all awaiting most eagerly the continuance of his story, he began again.

"Mates all, and you, too, mistress," with a dack of his head to my mother, as he resumed, "you may well believe that that there drop of blood a-falling from the tree nearly froze all the blood in our own veins with horror. For in no way could we conceive how he who had so mysteriously disappeared should have left his blood—for we never doubted that it was his—upon that tree.

For, first of all, as we debated among ourselves, he was not a wounded man, but one who was sick and sick, as I thought, of the calenture, so that why he should bleed we knew not. And, secondly, he had been so ill and fevered and prostrated that he could not rise from the ground, so how could it have come about that he could ever have got up into that tree, whose lowest branch was a good eight feet from the earth?

And, thirdly, even allowing that he could have got there, what had become of him, for that he was up in the tree there could be no possibility? We could see up into it and through it, and most certainly he was not there. So again we asked ourselves, 'Where was he?'

"We are in God's hands," our skipper said, "and he alone directs our course. And in his goodness he has seen fit to land us upon this terrible island. We must bow to him."

"But, cap'n," says our mate, "what is to be done? Since he is not there he must be somewhere—unless it be that he has cast himself into the sea."

"He had no strength for that," I said. "Last night he could neither move hand nor foot."

"Yet," says the mate, "he could get up there," and he pointed to the branch of the tree off which the blood had dropped. Meanwhile our captain had been examining of that tree most careful and was a scratching at the bark on its trunk and, as he scratched, forth from it there oozed a dark red liquid that itself looked like blood, but was a little paler, looking indeed more like blood mixed with water.

"And now upon the captain's face there come a look of relief, and 'Men,' says he, 'this here ain't quite as terrible as we thought. That weren't no blood of poor Will Winter's what dropped upon my shoulder, but only the sap what this strange tree exudes. Look here!' and with that he rubs his finger on the moisture and shows it to us, and sure enough it was the sap of the tree itself, but red as blood.

"All the same it do look like blood," says one on us. But now the captain—because, maybe, he would not give in to no superstitions nor yet encourage them in his men—laughed at their ideas.

"Why, men," he says, "have you never seen, at home or abroad, plants and trees what have a liquid in them like blood? What about the schumack of the Americas, or the beet of our own dear land, to say nothing of the cochineal? Go to! These ideas is unworthy of British sailors."

"Yet, all the same, laugh at and banter as he might, there was many of that ship's crew who did believe most solemnly that the blood from that tree was, in some way or other, connected with the disappearance of poor Will.

"But, mates all, there was summat else to do than to stand a-gaping up into the tree and sperkerating about it. A search party must be made to go around the island to see if by any chance he could be on it, though it warn't no way likely that he was, and afterwards they was to take one of the boats and row around it to see if by any other chance he was floating in the water or under the water, into which one could see deep, for it was as clear as a trout stream at home, and also there was the leak to be found and calked and the Loving Friend to be somewhat repaired.

"So to work we all sets, some on us over the island, where we found naught, not even so much as a foot mark which might have showed which way Will had gone; some on us round the island in a boat, peering down on the sand through the clear water, and some on us working on the ship. And in this way the day passed and the second night come on us again.

"But dooring all the day and over our discussions as to whatever could have happened to Will we had been arranging plans for the coming night, for all on us had come to the certainty that that tree was in some way answerable for his disappearance. How it was, so answerable we could not say, but we felt it, and, even if it were not answerable for that, it must at least be so for the deadly feyer which had seized on him, for now we was full certain that it was not the calenture he suffered from. Our arrangements for the night was therefore as follows:

"First, of course, a few hands must man the ship for the watch and to stand by her as she righted with the night tide and as she again slewed over to port as the tide went out, but naturally not many was required for this.

"Secondly, the rest of our crew was a-going to stay on the island, taking turn and turn about at sleeping and watching, but all to be directly beneath the tree. We knew, mateys all, that there were some danger in this. We knew that Will Winter had landed on the island a sound man and was a few hours arterwards a dying one; we knew that we had felt strange things touching us; we knew that Will had disappeared; but we knew not how it all happened, and how it happened we meant for to find out.

"The first watch was the mate—the captain as in dooty bound staying by the ship—and six men, there being me and six others sleeping. The second watch was me and them six while the first watch slept. The watches was to be of five hours, and naturally no dog watch.

"We begun that night with a prayer, the captain coming ashore to say it, and all on us a-kneeling down, and when in conclusion he prayed for light to lighten our darkness, amen was said most fervent by one and all. And then the first watch was set, each man having a musket, loaded with slugs—but what there was to fire on no one knew, though all felt there was danger in the air—and soon we others was all asleep.

"That sleep was unbroken, and when we was awakened to take our turn we thought as how there was going to be no return of last night's alarms. But them good hopes was soon to be dispained.

"The night air had turned cold—as in them latitudes it often does, sometimes sinking as much as 30 degrees from the heat of the day—so cold as we were glad to walk up and down a matter of some 100 or 150 paces to keep ourselves warm. Even the moon—which was at her full—looked like a ball of ice as she sailed in the sky.

"Now, as Job Harris and I, who was walking together, and with our muskets over our shoulders, looking more like two sodgers than two sailors passed under that tree, we see a strange sight.

One of the branches which was standing straight out from the trunk at about the height of eight feet was opening along its lower part for all the world as you may see an overripe pea pod open in a garden and show all the row of peas within it, or, as sometimes, a horse chestnut shell will open and show you the nut shining bright within it. But when this here branch opened it let full with a splash a great blob of what the skipper had called sap, but what we could not but think was more like blood. At this peculiar thing, which, however, at the moment struck me as nothing so very terrible, though Job's face was blanched with fear, he made as though he would up with his gun and fire at that branch, but I put my hand on his arm and checked him.

"Stop," says I; "there may be more curiosities to be seen. Let's wait and see." Mateys, there was more to be seen, as I will tell you.

"When that blob of what I called blood had fallen—splashing as it fell some of the men who were nearest to it—the part that had opened closed again. But it only closed for a moment, for directly afterward it once more parted and from it fell something white—something about as big as a duck's egg. And then, once more, it closed up. Job was by now almost beside himself with terror, but I was calmer and in my calmness I advanced to that white thing a-lying there in the moonlight and picked it up, while Job looked over my elbow at it.

"Shipmates all, in this here town, do you know what that thing were? It were a bone of some sort—alas, we feared it were a bone of poor Will Winter's, crushed and bruised into a pulp.

"Slowly I let my hand fall, and I knowed now that my face must be as horror struck as the face of the man before me, and, slowly followed by him,

I walked away from under the branches of that accursed tree. And, as we moved off, I think it done us good to see the light glimmering on the fo'castle of the Loving Friend and to know that in that brave ship there was something apart from the terror by which we were surrounded.

"Why, men," he says, "have you never seen, at home or abroad, plants and trees what have a liquid in them like blood? What about the schumack of the Americas, or the beet of our own dear land, to say nothing of the cochineal? Go to! These ideas is unworthy of British sailors."

"Yet, all the same, laugh at and banter as he might, there was many of that ship's crew who did believe most solemnly that the blood from that tree

was, in some way or other, connected with the disappearance of poor Will.

"But, mates all, there was summat

else to do than to stand a-gaping up into the tree and sperkerating about it.

"We are in the hands of God. But still

there is something here no mortal man

can fathom. Mute, let us wake them—

though our watch is not yet run out,

nor their sleep at an end. Better, better far that they wake and come away from that tree than remain there—better."

"But here I was stopped with a yell so awful that the other words I was going to utter died on my lips. In a moment we had faced round once more to that tree, and there we see what might have frozen a man to death with fear.

"All the sleepers were now on their feet, shouting and yelling—that is to say, all but one, Mark Deacon, and he the shipmates, was a-hanging by one arm to one of the lower branches of that tree, his feet being some distance from the ground, and the branch itself was shaking violently. But it was not even this that was so horrible as it was for us to perceive that he was not holding on to the branch, but that the branch itself was opening and shutting like a vast mouth—though never dropping him—and that, already, it had swallowed his hand and arm up to the forearm, and that it was gradually drawing the whole of his body into itself. So have I seen a snake draw in the body of an animal, for to nothing else can I compare this hellish sight.

"Hold on to his legs," I bawled, as I ran up to him, "and some on you—you with axes and knives—swarm up the tree and lop off that branch. Lop it off, break it off, do anything, but stop what it is about."

"But to lop off a branch from a tree that is as thick round as an ordinary man's body is no easy task, work as hard as one may, and, though two men had already got up the tree by the help of the other's shoulders, and were hacking and slashing away at the branch with good will, they made but little progress, and, as they hacked and slashed, with every blow they made, the blood poured from the vast cuts until at last the sand below was deluged with it and looked more like a quarter deck after a three hours' fight with a gang of Saltee rovers than the shore of a desert island. But at least one good advantage did occur from their efforts.

"Hold on to his legs," I bawled, for at last the branch—as some savage, wounded beast might have done—was weakened by their blows, let go its hold, and poor Mark fell to the ground.

"During all the time I had been calling to them to lop off the branch he, in his agony, had been shrieking to them instead to cut off his arm and set him free, and indeed had we done so he would have suffered but little more or scarcely have been a greater loser, for, when released at last, he fell to the ground, the arm was gone—eaten away by that devilish tree—and naught but a mangled stump protruded from his shoulder. But his life was saved, and, instead of his whole body, he had but lost a limb.

"And now, friends, what more need was there to doubt where Will Winter had gone to or what had befallen him? It was certain we had come across a horrible something—for who could call it simply a tree?—that by some dreadful freak of nature was part cannibal, part wild beast and part demon; something, I do think, that no eyes but those of the crew of the Loving Friend had ever seen, something that no mortal man could ever have imagined had he not it.

"Shipmates, there was left but one thing more to do, and that we done at daybreak when all the crew had come ashore and when the skipper, who well understood chirurgery, had bound up poor Deacon's wounded stump.

"Stop," says I; "there may be more curiosities to be seen. Let's wait and see." Mateys, there was more to be seen, as I will tell you.

"When that blob of what I called blood had fallen—splashing as it fell some of the men who were nearest to it—the part that had opened closed again. But it only closed for a moment, for directly afterward it once more parted and from it fell something white—something about as big as a duck's egg. And then, once more, it closed up. Job was by now almost beside himself with terror, but I was calmer and in my calmness I advanced to that white thing a-lying there in the moonlight and picked it up, while Job looked over my elbow at it.

"Shipmates all, in this here town, do you know what that thing were? It were a bone of some sort—alas, we feared it were a bone of poor Will Winter's, crushed and bruised into a pulp.

"Slowly I let my hand fall, and I

knowed now that my face must be as

horror struck as the face of the man before me, and, slowly followed by him,

I walked away from under the branches of that accursed tree. And, as we moved off, I think it done us good to see the light glimmering on the fo'castle of the Loving Friend and to know that in that brave ship there was something apart from the terror by which we were surrounded.

"Why, men," he says, "have you never seen, at home or abroad, plants and trees what have a liquid in them like blood? What about the schumack of the Americas, or the beet of our own dear land, to say nothing of the cochineal? Go to! These ideas is unworthy of British sailors."

"Yet, all the same, laugh at and banter as he might, there was many of

that ship's crew who did believe most

solemnly that the blood from that tree

was, in some way or other, connected with the disappearance of poor Will.

"But, mates all, there was summat

else to do than to stand a-gaping up

into the tree and sperkerating about it.

"We are in the hands of God. But still

there is something here no mortal man

can fathom. Mute, let us wake them—

though our watch is not yet run out,

nor their sleep at an end. Better, better

far that they wake and come away

from that tree than remain there—better."

LATE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

Labor Troubles Caused Little Interruption of Business.

CLEARING-HOUSE PAYMENTS.

Record for July Shows an Increased Advance Over the Same Month Last Year—Greatly Increased Receipts of Wheat—The Week's Failures.

New York, July 29.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, say:

"There is certainly room for some decrease when the volume of payments through the clearing-house in July is 47.2 per cent larger than last year and 59.6 per cent larger than in 1892, the best of all previous years. So great an advance would warrant expectation of some setback under ordinary circumstances. But interruption of business by labor troubles of all sorts has been less than in any other July for years.

"Nor is the movement of products hampered. Western wheat receipts in July have been 18,863,826 bushels, against 7,309,333 bushels last year, to date, and corn 20,485,251, against 9,173,355 last year. Exports of wheat from both coasts were 9,939,220 bushels, flour included, against 8,833,193 last year. Corn exports also continue surprising—11,684,521 bushels for the month thus far, against 6,676,063 last year.

"Manufacturers have been buying much wool, it is stated, but less the last week, although many are taking sample bales. Goods are in fair demand, but no further change in prices is mentioned. Sales in four weeks have been 46,779,600 pounds, of which 38,954,800 were domestic.

"Failures for the week have been 151 in the United States, against 225 last year, and 20 in Canada, against 26 last year."

Bradstreet's says:

"Special activity in the iron and steel industry is reported at Chicago, where heavy advances have been made in finished products, and numerous shipments are reported.

"The cereal markets note little change in price, but trade opinion seems to favor steady demand and few fluctuations, in view of admittedly large necessary takings by foreigners."

Gold Standard for India.

London, July 29.—A dispatch from George Hamilton, secretary of state for India, to Baron Curzon, the Indian viceroy, announces that the government has decided to adopt the report of the Indian currency committee and that the policy of keeping the Indian mints closed to the unrestricted coinage of silver will be maintained. The dispatch further says that the British sovereign will be made a legal tender in and the current coin of India; that the mints will be opened to the unrestricted coinage of gold, and that the permanent exchange value of the rupee will be 1 shilling."

TROOPS READY FOR OUTBREAK.

Indiana Companies in Anticipation of Trouble at Evansville.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 29.—Accoutrements and camp supplies have been shipped to companies at Vincennes, Terre Haute, Frankfort, New Albany, Indianapolis, and to the Indianapolis and Attica batteries, so that they may move at once if there is an outbreak at Evansville. The governor has notified the Evansville company to assemble at its armory at the first sign of trouble and protect property till other troops arrive. The adjutant-general made schedule arrangements for special trains.

Evansville, Ind., July 29.—Officers here believe the crisis in the coal miners' strike situation is passed. The local militia is under arms and large forces of extra police and deputy sheriffs seem to have the situation well in hand.

Fatal Nova Scotia Wreck.

Halifax, N. S., July 29.—Four men were crushed to death, seven seriously injured and a number slightly hurt in the wreck of a construction train on the Midland railway near Windsor Friday afternoon. A train of flat cars was proceeding slowly along some new track, when one of the center cars jumped the rails and the others piled on top of it. There were twenty-five or thirty men on the train. All those on board the car that first left the track, four in number, were instantly killed. One or two of those injured are in a dangerous condition.

Three Drowned in the Ohio.

Evansville, Ind., July 29.—Three people ended their lives in the Ohio river in front of this city Friday night. They are:

MATTINGLY, AUGUST, 17 years of age.

CHEANEY, MISS PEARL, 14 years of age.

ONAN, MISS MARION, aged 20, of Henderson, Ky.

The young people, in company with John Cheaney, William Cheaney and Miss Teresa Onan, went skiff riding and were caught in the rapids in front of the mail line wharfboat and their skiff capsized.

Mr. Hanna to Drop Business.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 29.—Senator Marcus A. Hanna, according to a business associate, is to retire from active business and devote his time to politics. This statement was made when confirmation was being given to the announcement of the sale of the ore mines and lake vessels of M. A. Hanna & Co. to the National Steel company.

Great Bicycle Trust Formed.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 29.—President Smith of the Indiana Bicycle company has given out the details of the new bicycle and automobile combine. The capitalization is $40,000,000, and forty-two bicycle plants have been absorbed at a cost of $21,000,000, leaving $9,000,000 for working capital and to force out competition.

Pope Leo Dictates Terms.

London, July 29.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says the pope will refuse to arbitrate the Hayti-San Domingo frontier dispute unless both sides will give him full liberty of action and bind themselves to accept his decision without question.

To Be Taken from Caroline.

Manila, July 29.—In compliance with an order received from Madrid, the Spanish transport Alva will proceed from Manila immediately to the Caroline islands, in order to repatriate the garrison and inhabitants of those islands.

DECLARES BOERS MUST YIELD.

Secretary Chamberlain Speaks for British Government.

JUSTIFIES POSITION TAKEN.

Power and Authority of the Empire Is at Stake in South Africa—Conclusion of the Affair Must Be Satisfactory to Great Britain.

London, July 29.—In the house of commons Secretary Chamberlain justified intervention in the Transvaal, and said the government would not rest until the Boers had yielded all that Great Britain deemed just. It was not a question of a five or seven years' franchise, he said, but of the power and authority of the empire and of the position of Great Britain in South Africa. Referring to offers of colonial help, Mr. Chamberlain said that if the matter were happily arranged it would always be a satisfaction to think that in time of trial the country might count upon the loyalty of the colonies.

Mr. Chamberlain justified the right of intervention, firstly, because it was the right of every civilized power to protect its own subjects; secondly, because Great Britain had the right of intervention under the convention as the suzerain power; and, thirdly, because the convention had been broken in letter and in spirit.

In dealing with the latest proposals of the Transvaal government Chamberlain said: "In any case the government will press for necessary alterations in order to secure the objects in view. We have undertaken the cause of the uitlanders and are bound to see it through.

"We shall not rest until a conclusion satisfactory to us has been reached. I anticipate that the efforts will be successful, but we will not tie our hands in regard to measures that may be necessary to fulfill the anticipations."

Reward Given France.

Paris, July 29.—The Figaro asserts and guarantees the statement as absolutely authentic, that the successful conclusion of the Franco-American commercial convention was due to the direct intervention of President McKinley. The American negotiators considered the conditions too favorable to France and refused their signatures, but the president insisted that the convention should be carried through out of gratitude to France's role in the conclusion of the Hispano-American peace treaty.

Troops to Meet the Yaqui.

El Paso, Texas, July 29.—A brigade of infantry left Casas Grandes the night of July 26, bound for Pilares, north of Alamos Sonora. The Yaqui are driving the American prospectors from their claims on the Yaqui river. The Mexican government has started on a campaign of extermination, and as the Yaqui are fortified by a natural country, the fight will be long and bitter, as the Yaqui know no mercy.

Troops May Head Off Canada.

New York, July 29.—A special from Washington says: "A movement of American troops in the disputed Alaskan territory is expected to take place within forty-eight hours. It is believed that American soldiers will be ordered to garrison Fort Pyramid. The fear is expressed that if the United States troops do not occupy American territory at once the Canadian mounted police will be rushed in."

Archbishop Ireland Home.

New York, July 29.—Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul returned to America Friday on the White Star liner Britannic after spending three months abroad. The venerable churchman of the northwest will remain here a few days before returning to his home. He appears to be and says he is in perfect health.

President Heureaux Is Buried.

Cape Haitien, July 29.—The funeral of President Heureaux of Santo Domingo took place Thursday in Santiago de los Caballeros. The population was panic-stricken, but there was no disorder. The government has taken measures to put down the threatened insurrection.

British English and Americans.

London, July 29.—According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail, the Russian government has introduced a compulsory passport system for Ta-Lien-Wan and Port Arthur, preventing Englishmen and Americans from traveling there.

Pope Leo Dictates Terms.

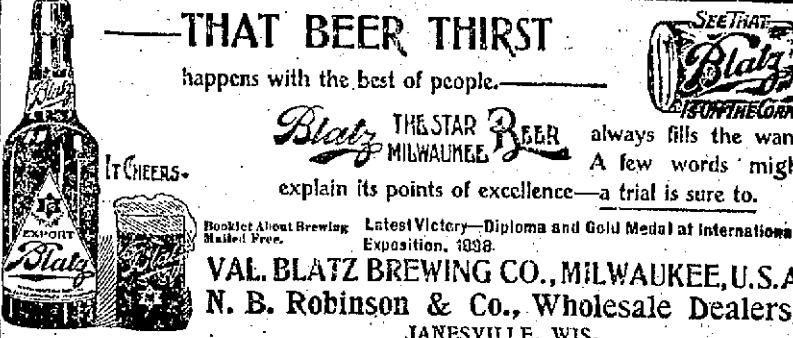

London, July 29.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says the pope will refuse to arbitrate the Hayti-San Domingo frontier dispute unless both sides will give him full liberty of action and bind themselves to accept his decision without question.

THE DOINGS
... OF ...
SOME WOMEN.

Recently Noted Activities of the Unquiet Sex.

By BESSIE DOW BATES

The recent terrible epidemic of smallpox among the Moqui Indians of Arizona was mainly checked through the efforts of a woman physician, Mrs. Mary McKee, who remained constantly at the agency during the prevalence of the disease attending the sufferers. Miss Marretta Meech and Miss Augusta Hausemyer, two Chicago girls who went to Havana as nurses some time ago, have volunteered to remain in Cuba during the yellow fever season and to care for the sick soldiers through the hot summer of the tropics.

Miss Johanna Westoff is the first of her sex upon whom the title of professor has ever been conferred in Prussia. She is directress of the Sleswick-Holstein museum at Kiel and was honored in recognition of her extraordinary services in archaeology and anthropology.

The recent appointment of Miss Lillie J. Martin as assistant professor in the department of psychology at Leland Stanford Junior university is a signal distinction for a woman and a fitting supplement to the honors she won in the laboratories of Europe.

Mrs. May Boyesen, a Red Cross nurse in the Philippines, was publicly commended on the field at Malabon by General Wheaton for the fearless manner in which she went about on the firing line caring for wounded soldiers.

Mrs. S. F. Edge, an English woman, enjoys the distinction of being the first lady automobile.

Mrs. Anna M. Bowen, who recently finished a course of postgraduate study at the Munich university, has succeeded Miss Harriett Norris as "dean of Woman's hall of the Northwestern university of Chicago.

Mrs. Lettie Y. Welch, a slender, quiet, self controlled young woman, is superintendent of the Arapahoe County hospital, one of the largest in Denver.

Mrs. Emmons Blaine's College of Pedagogy, about to be opened in Chicago, is likely to attract much attention in the educational world. It is proposed that the institution shall meet the demand for trained teachers in all grades from kindergarten to college.

Miss Gertrude Pomeroy, a New York society belle, is the champion shot among the Colorado big game hunters thus far this season. She was one of a party who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish on a tour through the west. At Glenwood Springs a hunting expedition was organized. A big black bear was brought to bay in a rocky ravine after an exciting chase.

Miss Pomeroy was the first to arrive and was given the first shot at the animal. At a distance of about 100 feet Miss Pomeroy shot the bear through the heart, her aim being faultless. The bear was the largest killed in Colorado in several years.

Miss A. McInnes of Harrison, N. J., who served as a nurse at Camp Hamilton, Lexington, Ky., and Camp McKenzie, Augusta, Ga., will go to Manila to attend sick and wounded soldiers in the Philippines.

One of the most expert horsewomen in New York is Miss Marion Holloway, who won five blue ribbons at the recent Philadelphia horse show.

When the Fort Dodge and Omaha railroad was recently completed, the golden spike was driven by a woman, the wife of Superintendent Dixon.

Miss Pearl Griffin is the fearless and aggressive editor of the Maryville (Mo.) Daily Review.

In this position she succeeded her father, who was shot and killed on account of his editorial opposition to unlawful liquor traffic and local political rings. Miss Griffin fearlessly followed the policy of her father, and, though threatened with violence, continues the publication of the paper, which has become a potent influence in the social and political affairs of that section.

Mrs. Adelaide Wallerstein, known in New York as a philanthropist, club-woman and society leader, recently passed the regents' examination, preparatory to entering a medical college.
